Best approach for starting small, simple app I am new to

Xamarin.Forms. I have created a couple of simple windows forms apps using .NET and C#. I have experience with WPF, Windows Forms and Silverlight. I am in the market for a new project and was wondering what would be the best approach using Xamarin.Forms? Are there any limitations to Xamarin.Forms? Are there any pain points I should watch out for? Is it ideal for a new developer to try out Xamarin.Forms? Thanks A: I would say the best approach is to start small, and build up. You can start with a "blank" app, and customize it for your needs, building up to an actual app. You can share code, but you want to try to avoid it, as you don't want to have to maintain it. If you want to learn Xamarin.Forms, I suggest you try to start by adding a navigation bar to a normal, flat page. Then add some pages with navigation buttons. You can get up and running by using the code-behind to handle the button clicks, but you'll need to add the XAML for the buttons to be clickable, and for the navigation bar to be visible. Then try and learn about pages. You can have the buttons on one page, and the text on a different page. Try to add something a bit more advanced.
