Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to an improvement in a control device for a transmission for automotive vehicles, and more particularly to a control device for controlling the power train of an automatic transmission to be selected according to the running state of a vehicle. 2. Description of the Prior Art There has been proposed a control device for controlling a power train of an automatic transmission for automotive vehicles to be selected according to the running state of a vehicle. For example, Japanese Patent First (unexamined) Publication (Tokkaisho) No. 56-8021 discloses a control device for an automatic transmission which includes a microcomputer. The control device for an automatic transmission, when the ignition switch is turned on, first detects a running state (hereinafter referred to as running state detection) such as the position of accelerator pedal or the like. Upon detecting the running state in which a vehicle is in a start condition (e.g., engine is not started),
